JEW LOUIE,

612 Green Street.

Very, very plain; nothing suggestive to strangers about the name or place of residence, but the amount of meaning conveyed by that name and address to her friends, who are legion, is sufficient to insure her a well filled house throughout the Encampment. She is one of the very few women of her nationality in the country that owns and conducts such an establishment. Miss LOUIE is a typical Jewess, and while not related to the Baron across the pond, one would think from the Oriental splendor in which her house is furnished from pit to dome that she had free access to his millions. Miss LOUIE has 12 of the most accomplished young ladies in the city from the East to assist her in receiving her callers, any one of whom can perform exceedingly well upon the piano, and among them are several vocalists of no mean ability.

Finest Brands of Wine and Beer.

Owing to her increasing popularity, it has been absolutely necessary for MISS HATTIE to open the large mansion at 630 Tenth street, which she has done at an enormous expense. She also continues the management of the cozy little cottage at 633 West street. R. fund, being ample proof of her liberality. She has twelve of the prettiest young ladies in the South to entertain her visitors. She also keeps the best brands of Wine and Beer.
